

Pat Kennedy Ascher first alerted me to the death of Andrea Ludgin when she wrote in her piece for the 'Non-Reunion Reunion Booklet'. "Today is May 24, 2020. The front page of The New York Times has none of its usual pictures, just a list of those we have lost to Covid 19 in the Unites States. Of the over 100,000, one name jumps out. "Andrea Ruth Ludgin, 81, Oyster Bay, NY, winner of the art prize at Mount Holyoke." On our first day at college, Andrea was behind me, standing in line at a freshman welcoming event. With such energy, warmth, and enthusiasm, she told me all about herself. I envied her self-confidence, her verve. And now, Godspeed, Andrea. I am so sorry."

Andrea's last known address was 360 E 65 St, New York, NY. She is survived by her daughter, Alexandra Mustonen Whelehan and her cousin Elizabeth T. Weyl, MHC 2006.
