From Toby Geltman Chiu:

Although I hadn't spoken to or seen Sarah for a very long time, I was saddened to read of her death. She was my closest friend at Mt. Holyoke and we kept in touch in the decade following our graduation. I remember visiting her in 1968 in Vermont when she attended the annual Breadloaf summer conference. Sarah was always responsive to poetry in her quiet way whereas I was a rather loud and opinionated political messenger. She a Bostonian, I a New Yorker! We didn't room together until senior year at Pearson, but you could often find her visiting me at my perch up the street in Glessie's. I spent my first New England Thanksgiving at her home in Needham, MA. Sarah will always be a part of my memories of Mr. Holyoke..
