Where to start? Many of you know that Barbara Jabs Lesperance & I were the last graduates of the MHC 5-Year Nursing Program. After finally completing the program in January, 1963, I stayed at Hartford Hospital, working in the emergency room, until my fiancé, Charles, returned from an Army tour in Korea & we married. Now, having completed 27 moves all over the US & Asia and almost as many nursing jobs – mostly Community Health, adding a son (Charles IV) & a daughter (Catherine), completing a Masters at Boston University, many volunteer jobs at their schools, our church, supporting specific political candidates, community programs & clubs, smiling through graduations (young Charles from USMA at West Point, Harvard, & MIT grad schools and Catherine from Mary Washington College and then George Mason grad School of Education), traveling as much as possible as husband Charles' work at USIA evolved into the Foreign Service (three years in Beijing, three years in Manila, tagging along when Charles was doing admin for the presidential press, conferences in Bangkok, Seoul, South Africa, Hong Kong, Bali, Vancouver, & New Zealand. I actually won a trip in 2003 to Tahiti so I could sponsor him! Ultimately, young Charles married his high school sweetheart, Liz, and produced two wonderful grandsons who are now finishing college & Cate found her passion in teaching reading. Many more travel plans were aborted by Charles' declining health as a result of Agent Orange exposure in Vietnam. I lost him in 2008 - still miss him every day. Somehow I managed to downsize to a condo near Catherine, make many new friends mostly of the same ilk, & with them generally carouse & explore the world: Chile, Machu Picchu, Galapagos Islands, Panama Canal, & many de rigueur Caribbean vacations & cruises. This activity has pretty much ended, given Covid-19, my own diagnosis of dementia, & waning energy. I really love reading about you classmates and your many marvelous & distinguished achievements, making me feel pretty ordinary but also proud of you & all that MHC means: One of the best things I've done.
