Discussion Group: For a close look at Where and When to go now

Sunday, May 23, 2021 from 1 – 2 pm ET

WHO: For people who love to travel, the world beckons, despite it all. As someone with a serious travel addiction nurtured during 21 years of exploring the world for T+L, I decided not to let life close in on me, as I saw it, when I left the magazine in September 2014—and to keep on traveling. I immediately booked trips for my husband and myself to two of my top favorite destinations, Southeast Asia and India, and ultimately did what I never could have imagined I'd do and became a travel advisor. It turns out that my second career is ideally suited to me.

WHAT: In this session, I will take a deep dive into one of the things I love most—talking about travel, highlighting places to which I have a special connection and those I haven't been to yet and most want to visit (Iceland is high on this list, as is Chilean Patagonia and Bordeaux). I'll answer questions and share my stories, some of them so outlandish that they now seem like out-of-body experiences.

WHEN: Sunday, May 23, 2021 from 1 – 2 pm ET.

WHO IS THE INSTRUCTOR: classmate Nancy Gerstein Novogrod, former Editor in Chief of Travel + Leisure.

WHY: I believe that travel is good for you—life-affirming, eye-opening, mind-expanding, and fun. But I am well aware of the hurdles that can get in the way, among them cost, distances, and family concerns. I can't solve them, but I can provide insights and alternatives that may not be all-encompassing remedies, but ideas to keep in mind for when the time is right.

HOW: Register now for our virtual 50th Reunion, May 21-23, 2021 (registration is free):
